

I Am From...

By Silas

I am from being the only kid in the family and feeling sad when I get home because there is no one there to play with me.

I am from two Grandmas, one died before I was born and I live with the other one. I love them both.

I am from a family whose dog died because his legs were wobbly.

I am from having my cat sleep with me every night because she is the best cat ever!

I am from riding the Ferris Wheel and when I look down I feel excited because when I look down I am going higher than I have ever been before.

I am from being a boy who feels happy that he still has a Grandma!
